Expansion coming to Ocean Downs

By Josh Davis

Staff Writer

(Sept. 10, 2015) Details were sparse on the specifics, but the Casino at Ocean Downs on Tuesday began work on an expansion project, the purpose of which remains undefined.

General Manager Joe Cavilla confirmed the work was under way.

"The foundation for the expansion building construction did start this morning," he said Tuesday. "It is the shell for the building expansion, and all we're doing right now is foundations and the actual shell of the building itself."

Cavilla said there was no announcement on what the interior of the building would hold, adding that it was still "to be determined."

"It is an expansion to the existing building," he said. "It'll tie in to the existing casino building, but as far as what the interior would hold, we're not prepared to release that at this point."

He added that the casino has not requested permits to add any additional table games or slot machines.

"We did not submit for anything, so there technically is no formal approval," he said. "The site is eligible to apply, but there has been no formal approval."

Ocean City Today reported in October 2013 that the Worcester County Planning Commission approved a 35,000 square-foot expansion, along with a back-of-house mezzanine adjacent to the casino and the Ocean Downs Racetrack, in September of that year.

At the time, Cavilla provided a few details via a press release dated Sept. 18, 2013

"We are expanding because we were limited to the former footprint of the grandstand to accommodate our original proposed slot casino," he said. "The new building will allow us to spread out the existing operation."

"We will be adding a racing sports restaurant to include simulcast wagering with a view of the racetrack, a very large storage area, and larger back-of-the-house operations," Cavilla added.

The release said approximately 10 new table games would be included, adding that "seasonal staffing logistics" would need to be solved before submitting anything to the State Lottery Commission.

Also included in the release was that the casino did not plan to increase the number of table games it offered, although some of its 800 existing slots could move into the expansion to "enhance aesthetics and player comfort."

The expansion could also include a new viewing area for racing if the casino meets approval, through the Racing Facility Redevelopment Fund, by the State Racing Commission, according to the release.

"We are committed to providing an operation that appeals to and excites our customers, enhances the attraction of the Ocean City-Berlin, Maryland resort area and provides stable revenue for our state and local stakeholders," Cavilla said. "This small expansion will allow friendlier and service-oriented enhancements and is in the work-in-progress stage of development."

U.S. District Court sets date for Berlin Fire Company trial

By Josh Davis

Staff Writer

(Sept. 10, 2015) A trial date has been set for the civil case of Zackary Tyndall versus the Berlin Fire Company, for Jan. 11-22 at U.S. District Court in Baltimore.

In July, U.S. District Court Judge Ellen Lipton Hollander denied the Fire Company's motion for a partial summary judgment.

Tyndall, a former fire company employee, originally filed a harassment complaint in August 2013.

Lipton's 63-page opinion said the case concerned allegations of employment discrimination and "intentional infliction of emotional distress" against two former coworkers of Tyndall, Bryon Trimble and Derrick Simpson.

According to Tyndall, he was fired from the job in retaliation for reporting certain activities at the department. Among his allegations was that the defendants created a hostile work environment that led to his severe depression.

An evaluation by a clinical psychologist included in the judge's memorandum agreed that Tyndall "developed a Major Depressive Disorder ... experienced through his affiliation with the fire company."

Lipton noted that Tyndall may not have success in his claim, but wrote, "It is not the province of the court to make factual findings or to resolve factual disputes."

"Tyndall has produced evidence that Trimble and Simpson—men almost twice his age, and in supervisory positions—subjected him to a prolonged, continuous barrage of derogatory remarks, to which Tyndall repeatedly objected," Lipton wrote, adding that the alleged conduct "occurred in two workplaces ... and spanned multiple years."

Amy Taylor Sevigny, an associate at the Salisbury law firm Otway, Russo & Rommel, represents Tyndall. Joanna Schmidt, from Baltimore-based firm Schmidt, Dailey & O'Neill, LLC., represents the Berlin Fire Company.

Neither side returned calls for comment.

Rizzo, lost dog in Pines, reunited with owners in Pa.

By Josh Davis

Staff Writer

(Sept. 10, 2015) After being lost in and around the woods of Ocean Pines for nearly a month, Rizzo the German shepherd is now happy, healthy and reunited with her owners in Pennsylvania.

Victoria Liptak said she and her family came to the area for a quiet beach vacation when the pup got loose in early August, triggering a community-wide search and dozens of wildly varying stories about what actually happened.

As it turns out neither Bigfoot – nor mischievous space aliens – had anything to do with the mysterious disappearance of the dog. Instead, Rizzo got loose after an accident at the beach involving Liptak and her other dog, Zuko.

"Zuko ran into me, and I couldn't move my leg," she said. "We went back to the beach house to drop off our dogs and the rest of our family, and my fiancé took me to the hospital. And while we were at the hospital, my sister took Rizzo outside to go to the bathroom, and she backed out of her collar and took off."

Liptak said Rizzo had pulled out of her collar before at their home in Womelsdorf, Pa.

"We've always gotten her back," she said. "She usually just runs around the block and waits at the gate for me and then we get her. I figured she would probably just take a trip around the block like she does at home, and I'll call her name and she'll come back. But that didn't happen."

"After the first day I was getting really nervous, and then towards the end of the trip it was just hard knowing I had to go home and we still didn't know where she was," Liptak continued. "That's when I met Diane."

Diane Koppelman, an Ocean Pines resident, started the Facebook group "Finding Rizzo," and for the next several weeks its members posted sightings and formed small search parties, hoping to track down the errant dog.

Eventually, the search drew the interest of amateur dog trapper Emma Maring, a Delaware native who used her experience to lure Rizzo into a fenced-in area on Aug. 25 using bits of hotdog.

After trapping the dog, she called her friend, Heather Bahrami, a volunteer at the local humane society.

Liptak said she was getting ready to go to bed when Maring sent a message to her on Facebook.

"It was midnight and she said that she was in the fenced-in area with Rizzo ... and then at 3:30 [in the morning] they said they had her and they were taking her to the humane society," Liptak said.

Rizzo was delivered to the shelter and two days later she was reunited with Liptak.

"Thankfully, there were people there that cared so much and were willing to help someone they didn't even know," Liptak said. "It was amazing. It shocked me because I don't think that would have happened if she got loose out here. We would have told our neighbors and they would have been like, 'Okay – and your point is?'

Liptak said it was hard to describe the feeling of elation she had at finally seeing her dog again.

"She sniffed me first, like she wasn't quite sure, then she realized it really was me," she said. "She yelped and made all kinds of noise and hasn't left my side."

"As soon as she got home she did a lap around the yard, a lap around the house, made sure everything was where it was supposed to be, and she's been back to normal since," Liptak continued. "The only thing she's been a little iffy about is she doesn't like going outside by herself."

She added that Rizzo got a clean bill of health from the local veterinarian, and expressed again how grateful she was to everyone who helped during the three-week search to find her lost dog.

"I can't say thank you enough to everyone that took their time," she said. "Emma was coming from Delaware on a daily basis and she ended up staying in Ocean City to help someone she didn't even know. Everyone has been so amazing."

Several Pines residents move to stall Manklin construction

By Josh Davis
Staff Writer

(Sept. 10, 2015) A movement to stop construction of Manklin Meadows Racquet Center, an Ocean Pines recreation and parks expansion, has been developing over the last several weeks.

Approved by the board of directors and set to go up soon near the South Gate, the expansion is being challenged by a growing number of residents led by bartender Tammy Fultz and glass artist Holden Becker.

Becker, an Ellicott City native, moved to Ocean Pines three years and is a resident artist and instructor at the Art League of Ocean City.

He said he became concerned when he found out about the $250,000 project to renovate the courts.

"They want to move to the only good playground equipment in the Pines that's not really falling apart and dangerous," he said. "We just hope it's going to stay on the south side, because otherwise all the playground equipment will only be on the north side."

"So many people take their dogs to the dog park and let their kids go to the playground, or just take them to that playground because it's one of the best in the Pines. That's a concern for a lot of people," Becker added.

What really struck him, he said, was how small the contingent was that lobbied for tennis and pickleball expansion.

"The larger number of people who want the new pickleball courts are 'friends of the Pines,'" he said. "These are people that live in Delaware and apparently no one in that region has any of these pickleball courts, and they want them. So they want us to build them – and we're paying for it."

Becker said Fultz was part of a group of residents who wanted the dog park several years ago and were forced to raise a large portion of the money to pay to "put a fence around two sections of grass."

"It's a little ridiculous that they want to drop this quarter million on pickleball courts," he said. "I realize it's an up-and-coming game. I realize that there is a need in the area for it, but I also know that we don't tend to charge people outside the Pines what we need to charge them to make up the money.

"There was no feasibility study done, there was no community impact study done, and they don't have a great track record after the yacht club – and the splash pad at the swim and racquet club – of large construction projects," Becker added.

Hoping to delay the tennis expansion, Becker said Fultz is speaking with county planning and zoning officials, while he has set up a meeting with an attorney on Wednesday, after press time.

"The question comes down to whether or not we can get an attorney that will help us at least put a stay on construction until we can get a feasibility study done to make sure that it benefits Ocean Pines residents," he said. "Then we can make the money to have a three-to-five year break-even plan on the construction, and hopefully the income coming in would pay for the maintenance."

Becker said support on social media has been strong, although he can't be sure how much that would translate into real-world support. The group set up a meeting to gauge interest at Taylor's at 7 p.m. on Thursday.

"I know that, verbally, we have a great deal of people who do not like the idea, but we don't know what's going to happen," he said. "We do know that there are many people that are up in arms about it. The question is, do they want to be involved?"

The goal is to set up an online petition to form a referendum that would stay construction, Becker said.

"That's different than what the board is used to and I'm sure their attorneys are going to have a field day trying to discredit it, but I want to do it online because I want the part-timers to be able to sign it," Becker said. "I'm really tired of feeling like we're living in a community that's designed for and run by retirees."

"The important thing for us is we don't have any personal projects that we want done – we just want to make sure that things are done fairly for and aimed at all OP residents, or the greater good, as opposed to these little pet projects," Becker added.

Fiddler's Convention returns next weekend

Bob Perilla's Big Hillbilly Bluegrass set to headline Sept. 18 musical line-up

By Josh Davis
Staff Writer

(Sept. 10, 2015) The Berlin Fiddler's Convention returns to Main Street for three days of free family-friendly live entertainment that will include youth and adult musical competitions, Sept. 18-20.

The local act, Such Fools, winners of last year's full-band competition, will kick off the 23rd annual festival with a set next Friday at 7 p.m. at the north end of Main Street. Headliner Bob Perilla's Big Hillbilly Bluegrass will immediately follow.

On Saturday, the competition portion of Fiddler's will move to the south end of Main Street. Running from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., the competition will feature adult and children's categories for the fiddle, mandolin, guitar, banjo and full band.

Signup will remain open until the day of the event and awards will be presented at the conclusion of the competition.

New this year to the convention this year will be nearly a dozen art vendors working together as "companies," according to Chamber of Commerce Administrative Assistant Morgan Coulson, one of the event's organizers.

"We're including vendors who sell items such as artwork made out of recycled CDs and vinyl albums, and guitars made out of cigar boxes – musically themed work that we thought would mesh well with the festival," she said. "We've also got some amazing local artists coming and bringing coastal-themed art and jewelry, as well as mosaic glass work, pop art, knit goods, and much more."

Coulson said this year's event would also be more kid-friendly than in year's past and will feature a moon bounce on Saturday and additional activities provided by Worcester Youth and Family Counseling Services. Additionally, Big Brother Big Sister will have a table for face painting.

"We also wanted to make sure that adults had an opportunity to enjoy the entire weekend, not just the day of the competition, so we were lucky enough to have Burley Oak sponsor us, and we will have a beer garden both for Friday night's events and all day Saturday," Coulson said. "We also will have food vendors on Friday and Saturday, which is a first for us."

The chamber will raffle off two instruments during the event: a beginner fiddle donated by Beach Music, and a mandolin donated by Eastman Strings. Tickets are $5 each, three for $10, or 10 for $20.

A Gospel Bluegrass Jam will close the weekend on the lawn of the Calvin B. Taylor House Museum on Main Street from noon to 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Coulson said the three-day festival has earned its reputation as a signature event for both the town and the chamber.

"Berlin was voted "America's Coolest Small Town" for a reason, and it's events like the Fiddler's Convention that put us on the map," she said. "We want people to feel they are having the best time every time they step onto the streets of Berlin. That is why this year we've brought in so many new ideas – blending the old with the new to try and make the most enjoyable experience possible for our visitors."

"We are constantly trying to improve our events and we believe our music festival is going to be better than ever," Coulson continued. "In short, we want people to drink, eat, dance, forget about their worries and have a good time with great music."

Berlin to present pair of Tyson plant feasibility work sessions

By Josh Davis
Staff Writer

(Sept. 10, 2015) The Town of Berlin will hold two upcoming work sessions to assess feasibility of converting the former Tyson's Chicken plant into grounds for public use and, most likely, a multi-use reaction facility.

The Town Council voted to buy the property in December, with three caveats before the sale closed. Following a clean environmental study and an appraisal that aligned with the sale price the council agreed to, the feasibility study is the final hurdle.

In August, the council voted unanimously to pay planning and design firm EDSA $34,500 to complete the study.

Administrative Services Director Mary Bohlen said the work sessions were the start of that process, and would in some ways resemble the strategic planning sessions the town hosted earlier this year.

"The consultants are going to come in and have these work sessions to talk about what the expectations are," she said. "The difference is that it won't be the big, public meetings that it was for the strategic plan."

Bohlen said the sessions would primarily seek input from the mayor and council, as well as town staff, rather than the public en masse. The next step would likely include a survey of the property as well as the surrounding area.

"They'll look at the area and see what other facilities have so that we're not saturating the market with the same thing everybody else has," Bohlen said.

The first meeting, described as a "kick-off discussion with feasibility analysis consultants, mayor, council and department directors" will be held Sept. 9 in the council chambers at town hall at 3:30 p.m. A follow-up discussion is scheduled for Sept. 11 at 11 a.m. at the same location.

The work sessions are open to the public, although public input will be strictly at the discretion of the mayor.

Fall Indoor/Outdoor Flea Market to be held in Pines

(Sept. 10, 2015) The Ocean Pines semi-annual Indoor/Outdoor Flea Market will take place this Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon at the Ocean Pines Community Center.

Gently used clothing, children's items, household items, collectibles and other merchandise will be for sale.

Flea market vendor spaces are still available. An indoor space is $15 for Ocean Pines residents and $20 for non-residents and includes an 8-foot table and a chair.

Outdoor spaces, which will be located in the parking lot in front of the Ocean Pines administration building, are $10 for all vendors. Outdoor vendors will need to provide their own tables and chairs.

Admission is free and open to the public. Free parking is also available at the community center, located at 235 Ocean Parkway in Ocean Pines.

Shoppers may also stop by the Ocean Pines Farmers Market for fresh produce, baked goods, meats and gourmet pantry and artisan-crafted items. The market is open every Saturday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. in White Horse Park, located next to the community center.

For more information about this event, or to inquire about participating as a vendor, contact the Ocean Pines Recreation and Parks Department at 410-641-7052.

Army vet Montalván brings PTSD talk to Berlin high school

By Kara Hallissey
Staff Writer

(Sept. 10, 2015) Raising awareness of post-traumatic stress disorder and invisible disabilities are the focus of a program U.S. Army veteran Capt. Luis Montalván and his service dog, Tuesday, will present at Stephen Decatur High School in Berlin, Saturday, Sept. 12 at 1 p.m.

"Millions of veterans in all eras of war suffer with post-traumatic stress disorder and civilians suffer from psychological and invisible disabilities," Montalván said. "It is a topic very relevant right now."

Tuesday will accompany Montalván when he shares his story about struggles with invisible disabilities associated with post-traumatic stress disorder and brain injury.

"Besides the fact that he is a highly-trained service dog, who migrates my physical and psychological disabilities, he is an inspiration to millions around the world," Montalván said.

Montalván's story caught the attention of an Atlantic General Hospital committee member and staff wanted to provide a service for veterans and others who are underserved in the community, said Dawn Denton, community education manager

Berlin officials to 'walk' with citizens during new program

(Sept. 10, 2015) The Town of Berlin is initiating a series of walks with elected officials as a follow up to the strategic plan adopted earlier this year.

"We heard the community interest in increased recreation facilities and activities. These walks are one of the ways we're responding to that concern," said Mayor Gee Williams. "As a Healthy Eating Active Living community we're looking for new ways to connect healthy activities with the way we do business."

"The walks are an opportunity for our community members to get a little exercise and share their thoughts about what's going well and what we can do a bit better directly with their district council member and myself," said Town Administrator Laura Allen.

Participants are encouraged to dress appropriately for the weather.

The walk schedule is as follows:

Wednesday, Sept. 16: Lisa Hall, District 2, starting at Buckingham Elementary, 100 Buckingham Rd., at 7 p.m.

Monday, Oct. 5: Dean Burrell, District 4, starting at 7:15 p.m. at Henry Park, Flower Street

Wednesday, Oct. 7, Troy Purnell, District 1, starting at the Berlin Fire Company, 214 North Main Street at 6 p.m.

Tuesday, Oct. 20, Elroy Brittingham, District 3, starting at the Multi-purpose building, 130 Flower Street at 6:30 p.m.

Swamp Donkey to take center stage for free concert

(Sept. 10, 2015) First Shore Federal Savings & Loan will sponsor the Berlin Heritage Foundation's final concert on the lawn this season on Sunday, Sept. 13 at 6 p.m. Swamp Donkey will perform.

Swamp Donkey is a high energy Electric Newgrass band made up of a mixed bag of musicians with extremely diverse musical backgrounds. Known to deliver a combination of original tunes and unique covers that stretch out across many genres, listeners are surely going to hear a grassed-up version of their favorite tunes.

Bring a chair and a picnic to enjoy this free concert on the lawn of the Calvin B. Taylor House Museum at 208 North Main Street in Berlin.

The Taylor House Museum is open through the end of October on Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays from 1-4 p.m. Group tours are available anytime by appointment.

For more information, contact the Taylor Museum at 410-641-1019 or visit www.taylorhousemuseum.org.

Sept. 19 Thank a Police Officer Day

By Josh Davis
Staff Writer

(Sept. 10, 2015) Sept. 19 is National Thank a Police Officer Day, which was established to show appreciation and support for local law enforcement agencies and officers.

Locally, several satellite locations will be collecting donations and rallying support for the occasion.

"There is a public event encouraging everyone to get involved in appreciation for their local police, and then there is a small group for the planning for Delmarva locations," organizer Andrea Baumann said. "We have team captains who be handling each delivery and we are asking the public to join in by filling cards with messages of support to be distributed across the area."

Baumann said regional push began with 14 locations and has now expanded to nearly 40, with the goal of covering every police department in Worcester, Wicomico, Somerset and Sussex counties.

"Any cards with positive messages of support and 'thank you' are perfect," she said. "These can be small cards, big cards, plain or ones that say thank you. Have lots of people write in each one, or get your friends, coworkers or civic clubs together for a card-making and writing event."

Cards must be dropped off no later than Sept. 16, and should not be sealed.

Additional suggestions include anonymously buying coffee or a meal for an officer, delivering a tray of baked goods or a fruit basket, posting an encouraging message on local business billboards, or tying a blue ribbon of support in your front yard.

In Berlin, Dimitra Douglas was given the task of collecting donations.

"I started my own event to reach out to my friends to write cards and buy treats so we could have a lot," she said, adding that Bike Week would require a strong state police presence in the area.

"Thank a Police Officer Day is important to me because I feel that quite often people forget that police officers are people too," Douglas said. "I think this small act of gratitude reminds the public that cops are human and shows law enforcement that we do appreciate the job that they do."

Local drop-off locations include Minuteman Press on 829 East William Street in Salisbury, the Sports Core Pool on 11143 Cathell Road in Ocean Pines, ACE Printing on 10026 Old Ocean City Boulevard, Suite 3, in Berlin and Brandywine Senior Living on 21111 Arrington Drive in Selbyville.

'Tuesday' brought salvation for fmr. US. Army captain

munity," Denton added. "On the heels of 9/11, our thoughts will be on those who serve our country and all that they sacrifice."

The 17-year veteran of the United States Army completed multiple combat tours in Iraq, received two Bronze Stars and a Purple Heart.

Montalván narrowly escaped with his life during a knife attack in the Middle East causing a severe concussion in 2003 which lead to a traumatic brain injury, and on his second tour he witnessed still-smoldering remains of an Iraqi bomber.

After returning home, he was haunted by war, in constant physical pain and ended up isolating himself from loved ones.

Montalván, who lives in New York, found his salvation in Tuesday, a golden retriever, who had been trained to assist the disabled and worked among prisoners and at a home for troubled boys.

They met in 2008 at a service dog organization near New York City and Montalván soon realized "Tuesday endured trauma of his own."

His unique training and sensitivity made it hard for Tuesday to trust or connect with humans until he met Montalván.

Tuesday can turn on a light, open doors, sense the onset of anxiety and flashbacks.

"We aren't just service dog and master; Tuesday and I are also best friends, kindred souls, whatever you want to call it," Montalván said on Until-Tuesday.com. "We weren't made for each other, but we turned out to be exactly what the other needed."

Montalván became a New York Times best-selling author three years in a row with "Until Tuesday: A Wounded Warrior and the Golden Retriever Who Saved Him."

In 2014, he published a children's book, "Tuesday Tucks Me In, The Loyal Bond between a Solider and his Service Dog."

The book takes readers through a typical day in the life of best friends starting with Tuesday waking Montalván up to reminding him it's time to take his medicine while the veteran reciprocates with trips to the park, wiping his paws and brushing Tuesday's teeth.

Montalván wants readers to acquire a "better understanding of trauma and healing from trauma" after reading his books.

There will be a book signing after Montalván's hour-long presentation on Saturday from 2-2:30 p.m. All events will take place in the Stephen Decatur High School auditorium on Seahawk Road in Berlin beginning at 1 p.m.

Visit www.until-tuesday.com and www.tuesdaytucksmein.com to learn more about Montalván's books.

New layout offers better flow for ‘Arts on the River’ strolls

now prefers the trappings and air conditioning of his studio.

“In the past, I’ve been involved with [plein air competitions], but I like the comfort of my studio,” he said. “I’m convinced, really, if the impressionists had cameras and air conditioning they wouldn’t be sitting out there in a field. It’s hot out there.”

He’s often used Ocean City and Berlin as subjects in his paintings, but said his current focus is Snow Hill and Salisbury.

Chincoteague, he added, is on the list.

Adcock purchased the John Blair House in 2009, turning the kitchen into a studio and workspace, and this year converting the living room into a gallery space, complete with comfortable chairs and soft music, that’s now open to the public.

At the least, he said, the change should be pleasing to people who partake in Snow Hill’s Arts on the River First Fridays art stroll.

“It didn’t take a lot of work actually,” he said. “I had to remove some furniture and replace it, and rehang some paintings. For this First Friday the refreshments and the food will be in this room rather than on the studio side,” he said, Adcock said traffic is light in the summer, although a few customers do trickle in from the nearby River House Inn bed and breakfast.

Outside his own space, Adcock’s work is available at Snapdragon and the Hallmark News Center in Ocean City, the Dorchester Center for the Arts in Cambridge, and Sisters and Sea la Vie in Berlin.

The gallery, located at 106 East Green Street in Snow Hill, is open Thursday-Saturday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., and during First Fridays through the end of the year.

Painter Kate Cashman poses with her artwork in her new gallery, Random Juxtaposition, in Berlin. Cashman moved to the area from Ocean Pines, and officially opened on Wednesday.

Former featured artist becomes host

By Josh Davis
Staff Writer

(Sept. 10, 2015) Artist Kate Cashman is no stranger to 2nd Fridays in Berlin, having been a featured artist herself and an instructor to several other artists who have displayed work at shops in the downtown area.

With the recent move of her gallery, Random Juxtaposition, to Berlin, Cashman will now play host during the town's monthly art strolls.

Her experience in art dates back to early childhood, when she started to develop an interest while growing up in the suburbs of Philadelphia. By the age of 10, Cashman was taking lessons with a professional artist.

She continued her studies in college, earning a bachelor of fine arts in interior design from Moore College of Art and Design.

"I didn't major in painting because I wanted a job," she quipped.

Cashman moved to the Berlin area in the mid 1990s after her parents bought a business – a garden center – on Route 113.

"My husband went to Temple for landscape design and horticulture, and it sort of seemed like we'd all have our own little fit with the whole thing," she said. "Then they re-routed 113, and the business closed."

After the family business collapsed, Cashman landed a job working for local artist Patrick Henry, and from 2005-2011 she taught all the art classes at Wor-Wic Community College.

Then, when Wor-Wic cancelled its art program, Cashman opened her own gallery in Ocean Pines.

"I had opened my own studio there. At that point, our youngest was still in school," she said. "I wanted to be close to (Stephen) Decatur (High School) to car pool and everything and it was just really convenient for us at the time."

Still, it was a struggle drumming up business. Finally, when Cashman learned her building was being demolished last month, the move to her new space on Old Ocean City Boulevard was something of a no-brainer.

"I think [Berlin] is really where I belong," Cashman said. "I'm really excited to be here in town. Access to Berlin, of course, is ideal, and I'm looking forward to being part of the arts stroll. I'm hoping people will hoof it or drive here for the openings."

One room of the gallery will be dedicated to an artist of the month in conjunction with 2nd Friday. Cashman said she also has 600 additional square feet of space at the new location, as well as a better overall layout thanks in part to custom renovations courtesy of her landlord.

"This is much more of a gallery and a studio space," she said. "My kids came and saw it and said, 'this is like our house!'"

Cashman teaches classes at Random Juxtaposition, starting with age 5 and up, and offers beginner-though-advance sessions in oils and acrylic paint, mixed media, watercolor, pastel and drawing.

She hopes the new location will also allow her to add figure-drawing classes.

This month, Cashman will feature Bishopville artist Isabel Morris during 2nd Friday.

"She's been studying with me for a few years," Cashman said. "She originally started studying art in Maine years and years ago and then raised her family. They live on a farm over in the Bishopville/Cape Isle of Wight area, and she does watercolor and oils. Her work is, I think, stunning."

Future featured artists will likely be selected by raffle, according to Cashman.

As for the future of her new gallery, Cashman insisted she would not attempt to reinvent the wheel.

"I'm hoping to just expand a bit on what I'm doing as far as having more people," she said. "I do 'Paint Nites' once a month, and I do kid birthday parties, so that's sort of a fun thing, and the space is much more conducive for it than where I was before. I'm hoping to build upon what I have been doing without any major changes."

Random Juxtaposition, located in the Union Station complex on 9928 Old Ocean City Blvd, Unit 9, is open Monday-Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Thursday from 9 a.m. to noon, and Friday from 4 to 8 p.m.

Miss Patti Cake moves sweets shop from Snow Hill to Pines

By Josh Davis
Staff Writer

(Sept. 10, 2015) Bakery and cupcake shop Miss Patti Cake broke hearts when the three-year-old business left Snow Hill last month, but the early response at the new location in Ocean Pines is about as sweet as the frosting.

The new location at 11021 Nicholas Lane officially opened on Aug. 25.

“We really loved Snow Hill, but the buildings down there needed a lot of repairs and we didn’t anticipate that when we first moved in,” owner Patti McDermott said. “It wasn’t something we wanted to keep taking on every year.”

One of the primary problems at the old location was the continuously faulty air conditioning.

“It was just way too hot in there,” McDermott said. “When you have cakes, you don’t want that.”

“When we left, we had to get out quick, because we have orders booked through next year at weddings and things like that,” she added. “We needed a space to go into, but the town is looking to fix all the older buildings down there just so it doesn’t happen to someone again. At least we started something.”

The new location, McDermott said, has slightly less space, but is better laid out to suit her needs. It also didn’t hurt that the majority of her customers came from the Ocean City, Ocean Pines and Berlin area,

Custom cakes get starring role at new Pines bake shop

meaning the move allows them to drive a few less miles to grab their favorite baked goods.

"It's also closer to most of our venues," she said. "We're constantly in Ocean City or at the Ocean Pines Yacht Club. And if we're not actually closer, we're equidistant."

"When we thought we might rent this space, we started calling our customers and letting them know we might be moving, and I would say 90 percent of them were really, really happy about that," McDermott added. "It worked out."

Custom wedding cakes make up the majority of the shop's business. McDermott said the general rule of thumb is two-to-three months in advance for larger cake orders, especially during May, June, September and October – the busiest wedding months of the year.

Aside from that, McDermott said the bakery also covers "pretty much everything," from cupcakes by the dozen to made-to-order birthday cakes, where no order is too complex.

"We're probably one of the only bakeries in the area that can do sculpted stuff," she said. "Today I have two sculpted cars to work on, and a lot of places aren't able to do that. It's a fun thing."

While McDermott did not rule out a possible expansion in the future, for now she's happy in Ocean Pines, doing more of the work that put the shop on the map.

"I originally wanted to be in this area – that was sort of a goal in my mind, so right now I'm just happy to have reached that goal," she said. "I don't know if we're eventually going to have another location, but I would probably like just to be able to reach the audience that's out here now that didn't know we were even in Snow Hill."

"People have been really creative with their ideas so far even with the past week we've been open," McDermott added. "That's really our goal – to do more of the custom work."

Registration open through week for annual Paint Berlin

By Josh Davis

Staff Writer

(Sept. 10, 2015) Any artists looking to participate in this year's Paint Berlin still have a few more days to register.

Registration for the annual event, which will take place Sept. 17-19, is will continue through the end of the week.

Sponsored by the Worcester County Arts Council, Paint Berlin drew nearly three-dozen painters last year and WCAC Executive Director Anna Mullis hopes to match that number during this year's event, the sixth annual.

"Last year, the event was very successful," she said. "The attendance really increased and it was such a beautiful weekend to paint. We're hoping for the same thing this year."

During the event, artists set up easels anywhere within a three-mile radius of the arts council gallery on 6 Jefferson Street. The event also draws plenty of spectators to watch the artists work "en plein air," or, loosely translated, outdoors.

"For artists to be there on the sidewalk or in front of a business, just off the street painting life, it's fascinating to see right in front of your eyes," Mullis said. "We feel that this was really needed in the town of Berlin, and it's an amazing experience not only for the artists, but it's very interesting for visitors and for the community."

Each participant receives a welcome packet with a map of suggested painting sights, which range from popular historical sights like the Atlantic Hotel and Globe Theater, to more rural settings outside the downtown area.

Registration is $40 and is limited to 50 artists. Participants must be 18 or older.

The gallery will hold a "Wet Paint Sale" on Saturday, Sept. 19 from 1-4 p.m. exhibiting work by participating artists and distributing awards. The first place award is $500, second place is $250, third place is $100 and honorable mention is $100. Guests can also vote for the People's Choice award.

Work will remain on display until Oct. 31.

"It's a wonderful experience seeing art made right in front of your eyes," Mullis said. "It's something that some people have never seen before. I always take pictures of all the artists and it's amazing to see what they can create in just a couple days."

"It's also a competition and we have really good prizes, which artists are really excited about," Mullis continued. "Lots of people came last year to our Wet Paint exhibition, and we were so please to see that the community was so interested in what the artists came up with."

Sponsors of 2015 Paint Berlin are the Town of Berlin, South Moon Under, Taylor Bank, Beachwood Inc. and the Burbage Funeral Home.

WPS teacher, students win award

(Sept. 10, 2015) Worcester Preparatory School technology teacher Nancy Raskauskas, along with four of her incoming 11th graders—Davis Mears, Thomas Polk, Alex Abbott and Jordan Welch—spent a marathon weekend together in July to enter the 2015 Toronto 50-Hour Film Competition with their film, "Little Time."

All their hard work paid off when "Little Time" won an award for "Best Use of the Dialog Line" and was chosen for screening at the festival. The team was also honored for its fine use of special effects used in such a short window of time to produce a film.

This was the third year of the competition which is sponsored by the Lost Episode Festival Toronto (LEFT). Winning films were screened during the Toronto Film Festival at Carlton Cinema on Aug. 8.

This was the first time WPS students entered the LEFT contest. All participating teams received an email at 7 p.m. on Friday, July 10, that stated the requirements of the competition, including the character, a prop and a line that had to be used in the short film. Once they received the rules, they had to spontaneously plan, script, film, score, edit and produce a Sci-Fi video. The edited film could be no longer than seven minutes and had to be completed and uploaded for entry by 9 p.m. on Sunday, July 12.

Raskauskas has taught Digital Media for more than 20 years at WPS. Many of her past students have won film awards and have gone on to work in the film industry. These four boys were part of her film elective.

"I couldn't be more proud of this team of WPS 10th grade boys who were up against mostly college and professional competitors," Raskauskas said. "My goal was to step outside the classroom and give these talented young men a first-hand experience of the challenges of independent filmmaking. Obviously winning these honors at such a young age makes it even more extraordinary."

Fiddler's, an unlikely hit, became an enduring one

Twenty-five years ago, Berlin businessman and then County Commissioner Jim Barrett had an idea about how to add a little life to what was then a mostly quiet downtown.

Why not, he wondered, have a fiddling competition such as the one he had just seen in Elkins, Va.? Throw in some bluegrass-style entertainment, pile some hay bales on Main Street in front of the Atlantic Hotel, which he and nine other partners had brought back to life a few years earlier, and it just might become a big draw for the town.

He ran the thought by local musician Frank Nanna, and the pair went about putting it all together, knowing that it would make for an enjoyable event, but with no idea of how long a run it would enjoy.

Turns out, it exceeded their expectations. The first convention in 1993 was so enthusiastically received that there was no question that a second and possibly a third would be in order.

Barrett passed away in 2004, but not before the fiddlers convention had established itself as a fall tradition, not just for Berlin, but for the lower shore region and beyond.

This year will be the 23rd time fiddlers and guitar and banjo pickers, from the very young to the well-seasoned veterans, will show what they can do on stage as well as in impromptu side street ensembles of musicians who like to play for the pure joy of it.

Barrett, Nanna and all the others who scrambled to make that first outing work were concerned mostly with putting together a respectable event that might, if everything went according to plan, have some legs.

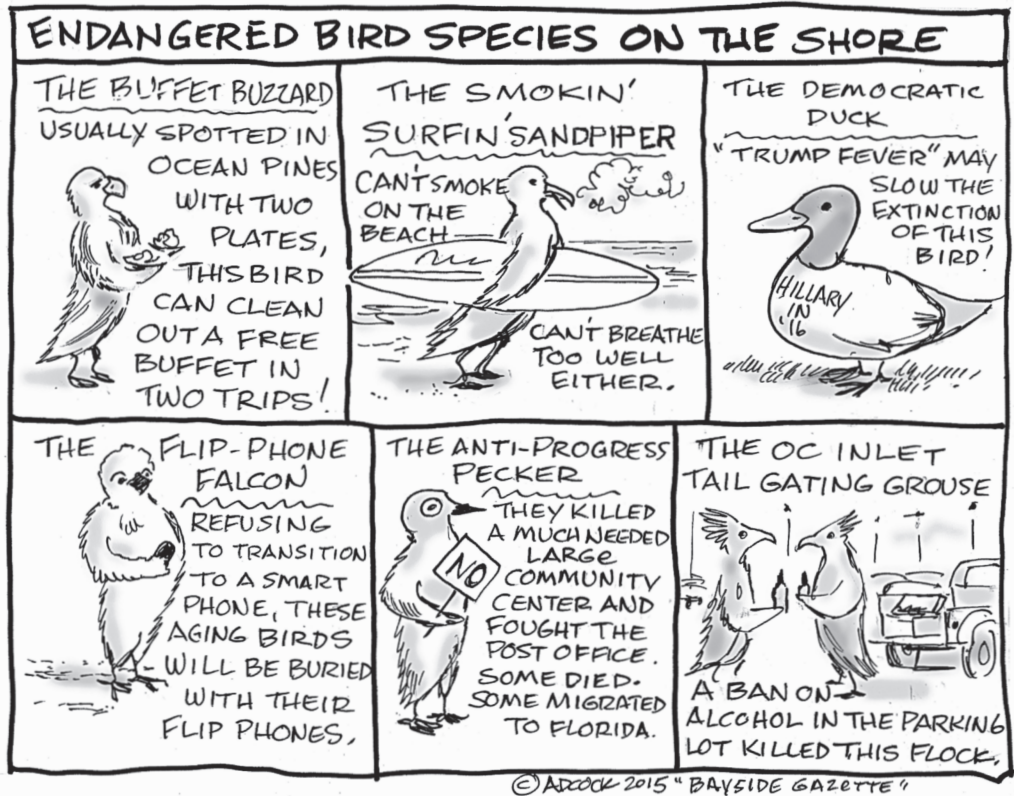

Obviously, as the convention closes in on the quarter-century mark, that was the case. And just as obviously, you could say, in the bluegrass vernacular, that them boys done good.

LETTERS

Governor Hogan's One Maryland

Editor,
As I went door-to-door in the campaign and now during my constituent listening hours, it's inevitable that someone will remind me not to forget us here on the Shore. This "One Maryland" concept has stuck with me as I work with my colleagues in Annapolis.

I believe Governor Hogan's leadership reflects this "One Maryland" approach. A review of his recent decisions on several policy and funding issues demonstrates a fair and balanced approach benefiting all of Maryland.

For example, after rejecting the originally proposed phosphorous regulations, the Hogan administration moved forward with regulations that struck a balance between the environment and our farm community.

Along those same lines, Governor Hogan refused to let the last administration's arcade regulations go into effect, which would have devastated our local family arcade and amusement owners. Instead, the new administration is working with our local arcade operators to ensure that the new regulations do not negatively impact family arcade centers.

When it comes to transportation funding, the Hogan administration provided $65 million in new funding to upgrade and widen U.S. Route 113, Worcester County's current top transportation priority. In addition, the administration's funding plan includes $160 million to widen Maryland 404 from U.S. 50 to the Denton Bypass.

Given the number of accidents and deaths on routes 113 and 404 over the years, these highway improvements will save lives, especially during peak summer resort traffic.

Governor Hogan understands that investments on the shore and in other rural areas in the state do not come at the expense of our metropolitan regions. In fact, Baltimore County will receive more than $500 million in funding in the Administration's Consolidated Transportation Plan.

As I continue to work with my colleagues in the Maryland General Assembly on the state's priorities, I am appreciative of Governor Hogan's rebalancing of Maryland's expenditures and regulations.

The governor's actions show that he is considering the needs of Marylanders in every part of the state. We on the shore will not be forgotten under Governor Hogan's leadership.

Thanks for great Peach Festival

Editor,
It takes a village to make a great Peach Festival. The Berlin Heritage Foundation's Peach Festival Committee extends heartfelt thanks to all those who made our seventh annual festival a great success.

We are grateful to all those who donated funds, prizes or in-kind services, volunteered, performed, demonstrated and sold crafts and art, shared educational information, provided delicious food and beverages, judged pies, dared to join in a pie-eating contest or sport a peach tattoo. We also thank the more than 3,000 people who attended.

Our downtown merchants made Peach Day so much fun. Special thanks go to our major sponsors—Worcester County Arts Council, Maryland State Arts Council and Main Street Berlin—as well as to Mayor Gee Williams, the council and all the departments working for the Town of Berlin who helped to make this another great community event. What a festive day in Berlin.

OBITUARIES

ROBERT "BOB" HOPKINS BOYLES
Willards

Robert "Bob" Hopkins Boyles, age 71, died Thursday evening, Sept. 3, 2015, while in respite care at Salisbury Rehabilitation and Nursing Center from complications relating to previous stomach cancer.

Bob was born on Nov. 20, 1943, to the late James R. and Clarinda Catherine Boyles of Sunset Beach Pasadena, Md.

Bob grew to have many interests, one of them being music. In his senior year ('61) at Glen Burnie High School, he was selected as drum major for the marching band. Bob excelled at the trumpet and played with the Anne Arundel County Junior Symphony. He loved boating and boat racing and crewed in many races and traveled as far as Canada to race.

Bob was drafted into the Army and was stationed in Germany during the Vietnam war.

Bob eventually decided that he wanted to move to Ocean City, where he had vacationed as a young boy, to raise his young family. So, in 1983, he and his family moved permanently to Ocean City. Almost immediately, Bob joined the Ocean City Volunteer Fire Company. He was assigned to Snorkel #11 and was an active member for 39 years and a life member.

Another life long love of his was fishing. Bob fished the very first year the Mid-Atlantic Surf Fishing Tournament was formed. He looked forward every year for the first weekend in October to fish with his team. He would even start going through and polishing his equipment a couple of weeks prior to the tournament.

For the first three years, he fished with "McCabe's Hookers," and the next 29 years were spent with "Bailey's Hookers," and for his last three years the six-member team was known as "The Cork Bar Hookers." He fished in the tournament for a total of 35 years.

Bob was also a very active member of the American Legion Synepuxent Post 166 in Ocean City for many years. He then transferred, seven years ago, to Boggs-Disharoon Post 123 in Berlin.

Bob is survived by his wife, Ruth Ann, and his two sons, Christian Robert, of Ocean City and Andrew James and his wife, Kasi, of Ellicott City, Md; two step-daughters, Jennifer Lynn Morse, of Ocean City and Samantha Garrett Bergenty and her husband, Todd, of Cherry Hill, N.J.; one sister, Patricia Ann Harris, of Pasadena, Md.; three grandchildren, Finley Boyles, Chloe Resnick, the "Creepette," and Christopher Morse, the "Wildman;" one niece, one nephew and four great nieces.

He will be missed by his many friends and of course by his beloved Chesapeake Bay Retriever "Charlie" who is so lonely without him.

Bob's remains are at the Maryland Anatomy Board and upon his return, notification will be made and a Memorial Service will be held.

For those who wish, a donation can be made in Bob's memory to Coastal Hospice, 2604 Old Ocean City Road, Salisbury, Md. 21804, or the Ocean City Volunteer Fire Company, P.O. Box 27, 1409 Philadelphia Ave., Ocean City, Md. 21842.

OBITUARIES

JOHN JOSEPH SPARZAK
Ocean Pines

The pearly gates were thrust open on 1:15 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 15, 2015, as St. Peter greeted John Joseph Sparzak with a firm handshake and a hug.

In the background, a jazz band could be heard playing “Oh When the Saints Come Marching In,” as John always wanted when this day came. We recognize how difficult the past four months have been for John, and ever the man of great strength, he remained strong until he was called to heaven to be reunited with his sister, Cynthia, and his mother and father.

What we can imagine is that today there is a patio in heaven with a table covered in newspaper and a bushel of crabs laid out for him to enjoy with his sister and brother-in-law, Johnny. It’s all right, dad, you can share a Natty Boh with your sister.

If there is one word to describe John, it is “strength.” His strength of character and Catholic faith was one to be emulated. His strong belief in family made him a husband of all ages to his wife of 49 years, Diane Marie Sparzak.

As a father, both of his sons, John and Mark, will tell you that if we can be half of the father to our children as he was to us, then we will have done just fine. His quiet assurances as a father, along with his quiet consternation at times, made him the most respected and admired man that John and Mark have ever known.

The greatest memories for us are those when he coached John and Mark in soccer and traveled up and down the mid-Atlantic region behind the wheel of the wood paneled Oldsmobile, taking the boys to college (Penn State and Loyola College).

Through the years, John was an unconditional supporter of his family, whether it was working with mom to start Marjo CrossStitch, supporting John at Penn State, or traveling to NYC to watch Mark play basketball for Loyola. Having grown up in Locust Point, John had strong ties to friends and family in this neighborhood.

He and Diane moved to Bel Air, where a family was started, having John in 1968 and Mark in 1971. Throughout life, being near the shore was always an important part of our lives together, from Nags Head to Ocean City, to finally residing in Ocean Pines.

There was no greater joy for John than spending time with his five grandchildren, Alexander, Gabrielle, Ivan, Crawford and Donovan. They put a smile on his face, whether they were on his lap or chatting by phone. John always had much to smile about, but the grandkids widened that smile and made him so happy every single time.

The legacy of John Joseph Sparzak is born out through his loving wife, Diane, his sons, John and Mark, daughters-in-law, Karen and Sigrid, and his five grandchildren.

A memorial service to celebrate his life is being planned to occur in Bel Air, Md. at St. Margaret’s Catholic Church on Monday, Oct. 26, 2015, at 10:30 a.m. A reception and luncheon will follow at the old church on the campus. We are hopeful that you can join us in celebration and in singing “Oh When the Saints Come Marching In.”

In lieu of flowers, donate to the American Heart Association or the American Diabetes Association.

DANIEL GUTSHALL
Berlin

Daniel Gutshall, 54, of Berlin, died unexpectedly Tuesday evening, Aug. 25, 2015.

He is survived by his wife of 31 years, Kimberly Gutshall.

Born in Chambersburg, Pa., he was the son of Patricia Gutshall. He is survived by two brothers, Darren Gutshall and his wife, Dorothy, of Carlisle, Pa. and Derik Gutshall and his wife, Kimberly, of Chambersburg, Pa; mother-in-law, Janet Nehf of Shippensburg, Pa., a sister-in-law, Vicki Carl, of Boiling Springs, Pa. and a brother-in-law, William Nehf and his wife, Angie, of Chambersburg, Pa. He is also survived by two nephews and two nieces.

Daniel attended Drexel University in Philadelphia, then left to pursue work in the family business in Chambersburg. He worked in corporate management roles in Pennsylvania before a permanent move to the Ocean City area. He found his passion in working near the water and in the construction building industry.

Daniel had three very special miniature schnauzers, Holly, Peanut and Onyx, whom he cared for and loved deeply. He referred to them as “his girls.” He enjoyed fishing, boating and traveling the U.S. in his RV.

One of Daniel’s defining characteristics was that he was generous of his time. Not only did he have a strong, loving and committed relationship with Kim, his true soul mate, but he also made an impact on many people’s lives with his insight, experience and positive attitude. He will be sorely missed.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to American Diabetes Association in Daniel’s name at 150 Monument Road, Suite 100, Bala Cynwyd, Pa. 19004.

A memorial service will be held at a later date. Condolences may be sent by visiting www.hastingsfuneralhome.net.

Placement projects sought for Realtor micro-grant prog.

(Sept. 10, 2015) The Coastal Association of Realtors (CAR) is seeking local Placemaking projects in need of grant funding.

Placemaking is a way to make the local community a better place to live and work by transforming public spaces into vibrant community places. As a place becomes more desirable and welcoming, properties around that place increase in value.

The available funding comes from the National Association of Realtors (NAR) Placemaking Micro-Grant Program, which aims to assist local associations plan, organize, implement and maintain Placemaking activities in their communities.

Grant awards range from $500 to a maximum of $2,500 and CAR is eligible for two Placemaking Micro-Grants per year.

Projects must turn an underutilized space into a community gathering area. Examples of successful grant projects include seating, wayfinding signage and free little libraries. These amenities can be part of a larger project such as community gardens, parklets, farmers markets, trails, playgrounds and dog parks, among others.

Contact Sarah Rayne at 410-641-4409 or email sarah@coastalrealtors.org for more information.

NATIVE BLESSING

Assateague Chief Michael Morabito and members of the Assateague tribe recently performed a blessing of the grounds at Rackliffe House. Native Americans resided on today's Rackliffe grounds between at least 1250 B.C. and most likely for some time after contact with Europeans during the 17th century. Archaeology has revealed that the site may have served either as a small, occasionally occupied hunting camp or it was located at the fringe of a village made up of widely separated dwellings.

various services including emergency and crisis assistance, food security, ensuring access to mental and physical health needs, programs for our aging population, helping children and youth succeed, and more.

"We are extremely pleased to provide support to these critical local programs that are doing such life-changing work in our community, and for our amazing donors who have made this possible," said Kathleen Mommé, United Way executive director.

‘Old Dough’ goes great on grilled pizza

The kids are back in school, the grilling season is over for most (bite your tongue), and as I’m fond of saying, it’s now time to start getting ready for next summer!

By Paul Suplee,
CEC PCIII

My wife and kids are thrilled that the season of the pumpkin is among us, and I guess to a certain extent I’m pretty excited for the treats that come to us in the fall. Pumpkin ‘everything’ from latte to coffee to pie to cookies to cakes to cake pops to white-chocolate truffles to...

I just went into sugar overload just writing that.

Shaking myself out of my hypochondriacal diabetic fit, I get back to the task at hand, which is having a little fun making a special treat on the grill; grilled pizza.

I wrote about grilled Piadina years ago, the little Italian sandwich squeezed in a mini-grilled pizza crust, and this is just the grown-up version.

Simply make some pizza dough (preferably well- ahead of time) and roll it out. Here comes the tricky part, but after you do it a few times, you’ll see how easy it is. You will need a pizza peel or flat sheet of some kind so you can put your perfect circle on it and then transfer it to the grill by shimmying it off. That’s it.

Now for a word on the dough, the best advice that I can give you is to use the Old Dough Method. This method implies that you have pizza on the docket on a regular enough basis that it makes sense. Simply take a chunk of today’s dough and save it until the next time. Freezing is acceptable if there will be a good bit of time in between batches.

Add this chunk to the new batch, and continue this method for all eternity. After a dozen batches, your dough will take on a life of its own and you will be the envy of all of your baking friends as they try to recreate your masterpiece.

It is similar to making a good remouillage (‘remi’) when you make stocks. After you make a stock, you drain it and then top the bones and spent vegetables with water and simmer for a few hours. Strain this and start your next batch with this, and so on and so forth.

In this way are remouillage and old dough similar. Developing flavor over time is an overly simplistic task, but it takes great patience and a certain amount of planning. Many of us simply don’t have the facilities at home to accommodate this type of activity. We just have to do the best that we can.

For now I will stave off the pumpkin ‘everything’ and stick with the grilled pie. We are only weeks away from being inundated with holiday sweets, and I shall remain strong.

Grilled Pizza

Makes 4 10” pizzas
2# Pizza dough*
1/2-3/4 c. Pizza sauce
Cheese blend (mozzarella, provolone, parmesan)

1. Make your dough a day or two ahead of time. If you are able to use the Old Dough Method, do so!
2. When you are ready to make the pizza, pull the dough out and divide into 4 equal 8-ounce pieces
3. Form them into balls and then allow to rest on a floured surface, covered with plastic wrap or a damp towel, for half an hour

4. While the dough is resting, turn your grill onto medium heat and season if it is a bit rusty since its last use

5. Roll the dough out and form a circle, and then toss the dough to make your 10-inch diameter

6. Dock the dough (poke holes in the center) to prevent the main portion of the pizza from bubbling up

7. If you have a pizza peel, you can use cornmeal on it to prevent the dough from sticking

8. Place your dough on the peel and transfer it to the grill surface so as to maintain its round nature

9. Grill for about a minute or until it sets up. You will start to see bubbles on the surface

10. Making sure that you don’t burn the pizza crust, carefully flip the dough over. I use a palate knife for this (a big, long, thin spatula)

11. Grill for another minute or two and then remove to a pizza pan

12. Top your pizza with the sauce and cheese. If you’re like me (well, me on occasion), you will also have sautéed mushrooms, blanched and drained spinach or bacon bits laying around so use whatever you want. It’s your pizza!

13. Place back on the grill and close the lid. If the grill is too hot, turn off the burners on one half and place the pizza there. This indirect method (with the lid closed) will act much more like an oven instead of a char-broiler, leaving you with a perfect crust and nice, gooey toppings

14. Remove and serve immediately
*Use any pizza dough recipe that you like, but a great tip is to make it a day ahead. The more that the bread can sit and develop, the better the flavors will be. Just make sure to punch it down and refrigerate, covered. For today’s pizza, I went by the Fleishmann’s recipe on the back of their Pizza Crust Yeast, but there are plenty of recipes out there.

More than $3.7M available in Elks' student scholarships

(Sept. 10, 2015) This year, thanks to the Elks National Foundation, the Grand Lodge will award more than $3.7 million to students who qualify for scholarships. Sept. 1 was the kick-off for the Most Valuable Student Scholarship Contest and the Legacy Awards.

There are three programs available which provide financial opportunities through the Elks National Foundation.

—Most Valuable Student Scholarship Contest: The Elks National Foundation awards more than $2.44 million in college scholarships each year to 500 seniors nationwide. Ocean City Elks Lodge #2645 also awards scholarships to selected applicants in this program. Any high school senior who is a U.S. citizen is eligible. The student need not be related to an Elk. Scholarship, leadership and financial need are the judging criteria.

Applications can be obtained by visiting www.elks.org/enf.scholars/mvs.cfm. Applications are only available by download from the website. The senior counselors at the participating high schools will be provided with information cards and brochures to assist students with the application process.

Applicants must still submit a hard-copy application by the Dec. 4 deadline. Applications can be dropped off at the Ocean City Lodge. However, the scholarship chairman will arrange to pick up the applications from the counselors at the participating high schools.

—Legacy Award: Children and grandchildren of a dues-paying Elk are eligible. The applicant must be a college-bound high school senior. Applicants compete against other children and grandchildren from the state of their sponsoring Elks Lodge.

The Elks National Foundation has allocated $1 million to fund 250 college scholarships worth $4,000 each. Applicants are judged on Knowledge, Charity, Community Service and Integrity.

Applications are available online and must be submitted on or before Jan. 29 at www.elks.org/enf/scholars.

—Emergency Educational Grants: This program provides college financial assistance to children of deceased or totally disabled Elks in the form of renewable, one year grants of up to $4,000. In addition, the applicant must attend an accredited U.S. college or university as a full-time student (12 semester hours), be unmarried and under the age of 23 as of Dec. 31 in the year of the application and demonstrate financial need.

Applications have been available by request since May 1. Both new and renewal applications are due Oct. 31. Applicants should submit their applications directly to the Elks National Foundation.

Contact the ENF Scholarship Office at 773-755-4732 or send an email to scholarship@elks.org to request an application.

Brochures about the three programs are available at the Ocean City Elks Lodge on the corner of Sinepuxent Avenue and 138th Street.

For further assistance, contact scholarship co-chairmen, Pat Flynn, 410-463-1131 or David Poore, 717-606-5534.
