Next week, for the first issue of 2024, we will return to our regular news coverage.

Happy new year!

Later, another owner took over and submitted new plans.

SCHOOL BUDGET PROTESTS

A group of Stephen Decatur High School staff members pose for a photo while dressed in black on June 9 in protest of the county commissioners voting days earlier to fund the board of education's full fiscal 2024 requested budget. The school budget was a major issue this year and is still a hot topic as members of the board of ed, teachers and staff continue fighting with some county commissioners over transparency and funding allocations.

STEPHEN DECATUR GRADUATION

GAVIN KNUPP HIT-AND-RUN

A memorial for 14-year-old Ocean Pines resident Gavin Knupp is set up where he was hit and killed on Grays Corner Road in July 2022. The incident remains unsolved at the close of 2023. Tyler Mailloux, 23, of Berlin, was charged with 17 offenses related to leaving the scene of the incident, but the charges were dismissed in August due to where they were filed in court. Worcester County prosecutors are appealing the decision and a hearing is tentatively set for March to hear evidence.

The Assateague Coastal Trust welcomed Taylor Swanson as the organization's new coastkeeper in October.

CARE PACKAGES FOR TROOPS

Volunteers work to assemble 750 care packages for troops on a Saturday in October at the Ocean Pines Yacht Club. The event was organized by the Ocean Pines Get Involved Facebook group and sponsored by Steel Blu Vodka.

BLACK EYED SUSAN SOLD

The Black Eyed Susan drives into the Slaughter Creek Marina in Dorchester County on Nov. 16 after a two-day trek from Snow Hill. The saga of the riverboat began in 2019, when Worcester County and Snow Hill staff members pushed for the town to buy the 111-foot vessel to increase year-round tourism. The boat, which needed some repairs, took its maiden local voyage in 2021. But less than eight months later, it was officially docked again after a U.S. Coast Guard inspection revealed a $600,000 price tag to bring the vessel up to the standard that would allow it to transport passengers. Town officials decided to put the boat up for bid, and after some failed attempts, ultimately sold it to John Butz, the owner of Slaughter Creek Marina on Taylor Island, for a loss. The Black Eyed Susan officially left Worcester County in mid-November to dock at its new home, where it was set to become a marina restaurant.

BUILD THE BEAR

Teachers, parents, staff and others march down Main Street in Berlin in October chanting "Build the Bear" in support of state funding to construct a new Buckingham Elementary School. A state board denied funds that were initially allocated for the project earlier this year and county and school officials are trying to change their minds.

GET OVER IT

BY JEREMY NEWTON / EDITED BY WILL SHORTZ

Jeremy Newton, of Austin, Texas, is an engineering manager for a mobile games company. This is his 26th crossword for The Times — mostly Sundays, and most of those having visual elements, a bent he attributes to his artistic background. Jeremy attended a magnet high school for visual arts, the Art Institute of Dallas and then an N.Y.U. Tisch graduate program in code-driven art installations. He likes the large “canvas” that Sunday puzzles afford him. — W.S.
